

Biography: Mr Nkosinathi Machine

Nkosinathi Machine has a degree in Managerial Accounting and PGD in Management from the North West University. He started his career as a Project Manager at the North West University's Commercialization Support Department. He later moved on to the NWU Technology Transfer and Innovation Support Department as a Senior Commercialization Specialist. He is now the NWU-Research Ethics Coordinator and a certified Ethics Officer. His key responsibility in this role is to ensure policy compliance of Research Ethics and related research policies.